When we strengthen families, we ultimately strengthen the community. Our goal is that parents everywhere work with supportive providers, feel confident in their parenting role, and form strong, resilient attachments with their children. To help achieve this, providers must be responsive to parents, knowledgeable about child development, and eager to see every parent succeed."

Maine Families

If you or your partner are a first-time parent or parent-to-be, the home visit services may help you learn to:

- care for your baby and yourselves
- understand changes as your baby develops
- use community resources
- calm a crying baby
- create a safe environment for your baby
- seek medical care when needed
- understand your child's needs

How do the programs work?

A home visitor meets with you in your home to talk with you about your interests and needs as parents. During the first meeting, the parent educator talks about what services will be available to you. If you decide to become part of the Home Visitation program, you may be offered books, educational materials, videos and other tools that may be borrowed for use with your child and family.

What do I need to do during a home visit?

It's easy! Have your questions on hand and be ready to share your experiences about parenting and ask us what might be helpful to you.

What will the home visitor discuss with me?

Depending on your needs the home visitor may discuss the following:

- baby and child health care
- breastfeeding/formula feeding
- Nutrition
- Immunizations
- child growth and development
- child safety
- household safety
- childhood lead poisoning and prevention
- Pregnancy
- WIC
- any concerns you might have

What else will the home visitor do?

- bring you free educational information to read
- talk to you about upcoming well-child visits and immunizations
- help you watch for developmental milestones
- inform you about and connect you with programs which offer help to parents
